A brief update for BMS families:

We are aware that MCSD will be going fully remote for the next two weeks... BMS will be continuing in-person, as we have no internal cases among our smaller classrooms and a limited number of quarantine situations that are primarily connected to the two positive bus drivers this week. My collaboration over the last few days with the PA Dept. of Health has been a blessing, and we are grateful that those who needed to do exposure quarantine periods have begun that process with us this week. Again, we have no positive cases here!

Affected shared buses that were mentioned in recent RenWeb alerts are still not running during their quarantine, and so we appreciate the continued understanding and flexibility of our families who have students typically riding those buses until they are running again in the near future. At this point, all other buses are rolling and ready to move forward with serving BMS as we keep our doors open and continue to make informed, safe, and reasonable decisions for our unique school in this trying season. Please join me in praying for those around us.

Have a blessed weekend!
